Mini Track: Hiding or misleading key information

Mini Track Chair: DR. Ken Webb CrisisLeaders, Australia.

It is a proven tradition for governments, alliances and corporates to hide or mislead key information to achieve their aims for political and competitive purposes. For example, the findings of parties in Iraq over no weapons of mass destruction.

However, the world is now full of non-government parties (e.g. lobby groups) that have a capability to and are starting to reveal information that has been hidden or used to mislead. This includes information that has been hidden or misleading for centuries, and exposure now discredits the 'offender' so the party wanting to lobby them has an additional bargaining tool to achieve their desired aim.

Thus, is the hiding or misleading of key information to achieve aims in need of change or removal because access to information is so readily achievable now? Alternatively, does the level of encryption, secrecy, deception etc now have to be lifted even higher?

Furthermore and probably not practical, why hide or mislead on anything now and just tell the truth?

This track intends to attract academic or technical papers presenting results, new approaches or new views with respect to this new challenge for digital societies.

Submission details are given below. Topics for submissions to this mini track may include, but are not limited to:

- Changes in societal information culture
- Improved use of information by governments, alliance and corporates
- Increased exposure or collaboration on information sharing
- The dilemmas facing the propaganda, encryption, secrecy and/or deception world
- Increasing secrecy and/or deception
- Other topics

As well as full academic papers, the following submissions are also welcomed:

Research in Progress: Researchers may submit current projects whilst they are still in progress

Case Study Submissions: Submissions should be written to publishable standards.

Poster Submissions: Welcomed in any of the areas identified in the Call for Papers.

Round Table Proposals: Topical subjects proposed for discussion.

Practitioner Contributions: Contributions, either presentations or demonstrations, from individuals and organisations working in the field. Presentation submissions should follow the abstract submission process. For product demonstrations, please submit a proposal of 200-300 words describing the product you would like to demonstrate and the audience it serves. Proposals should be sent as an email attachment to Sue Nugus not later than 3 February 2011. Demonstrations themselves are expected to be approximately 15 minutes in length. At least one person must register for the conference to give the presentation

Selected papers from the Conference will be considered for publication in a special issue of the Journal of Information Warfare: <http://www.jinfowar.com>. Additionally, selected papers from the conference will be considered for publication in the International Journal of Electronic Security and Digital Forensics published by Inderscience UK (ISSN:1751-1911X).

Submission details

Abstract details: All submission types require an abstract in the first instance. The Abstract should be a minimum of 300 and no more than 500 words including keywords to be received by 10 December 2010. Please read the Abstract Guidelines section of the website before submitting.

Submission: Online via the submission form. Please ensure that you complete all relevant sections of the form, including the conference track the abstract is intended for, the proposed title for the paper, the full names (first name and surname, not initials) and email addresses of all authors and a postal address and telephone number for at least one contact author. Please indicate clearly if the contact author is not the lead author.

Full paper: Only required after acceptance of abstract and not to be more than 5,000 words including abstract, keywords and references. Submission date will be no later than 3 February 2011. Papers should be submitted as .doc or .rtf file attachments by email to the Conference Manager, Julia Hawkins. (Julia.hawkins@academic-conferences.org)

Important information

- The selection panel of the conference committee will consider all abstracts received by the submission deadline to ensure that the proposed paper is relevant to the Conference.
- The authors of abstracts that describe a relevant paper will receive a notification of abstract selection.
- All full papers will be double-blind reviewed by members of the conference committee to ensure an adequate standard, that the proposed subject of their abstract has been followed, that the paper is of a suitable length, the standard of English is adequate and the paper is appropriately referenced.
- For authors whose first language is not English we request that you have your work proof read prior to submission by a native English speaker (or at least a fluent English speaker). Papers can be rejected due to a poor standard of English.
- Papers that are accepted will be published in the conference proceedings providing at least one author registers and presents the work at the Conference (see the registration section of the conference website for more information about registration). Author registration must be completed by 12 June 2008.
- Due to the large number of papers expected for this conference, the committee only allows an author to present one paper. Therefore if multiple papers are accepted for presentation different co-authors need to present each paper. Author registration must be completed by 2 June 2011.
