Call for papers, workshops and tutorials

Mini track: Doctoral Consortium.

Track co-chairs: Don Ropes and Christiaan Stam, Centre for Research in Intellectual Capital, INHolland University of Applied Sciences, Haarlem, The Netherlands

The Doctoral Consortium is designed for full and part-time Ph.D. students in the field of intellectual capital or related subjects, at any stage of their studies. The accepted candidates for the Consortium will submit a written paper on his or her dissertation and give a brief presentation followed by a 10-15 minute feedback session.

The goals of the Consortium are to:

- Help doctoral students with their research by providing advice on work in progress and direct feedback from peers, other researchers, and practitioners.
- Facilitate networking events that will allow doctoral students to meet other students, academics, practitioners, journal editors, and potential recruiters.
- Provide advice on writing a good dissertation.

The submission criteria for Doctoral Consortium papers are the same as for other academic papers. However, participants in the Doctoral Consortium are asked to submit papers related to his or her dissertation. This implies that papers can vary from PhD-proposals to abstracts of complete dissertations. Papers could include literature reviews, problem definitions, relevance issues, methodological issues, etc.

It is important to note that the aim of the Doctoral Consortium is to help Ph.D. students with their research. Therefore, we strongly recommend you to submit a paper related to a research topic which is still under construction! In order to focus the discussion about your paper it is strongly recommended to submit one or more questions you would like to address during your presentation.

Important information:

The selection panel of the conference committee will consider all abstracts received by the submission deadline to ensure that the proposed paper is relevant to the Conference. The authors of abstracts, which describe a relevant paper, will receive a notification of abstract acceptance. All full papers will be blind reviewed by members of the conference committee to ensure an adequate standard, that the proposed subject of their abstract has been followed, that the paper is of a suitable length, that the standard of English is adequate and that the paper is appropriately referenced. Papers that are accepted will be published in the conference proceedings providing at least one author registers and presents the work at the Conference (see the registration section of the conference website for more information about registration).
