Mini Track on KM, Organizational Wisdom and Spirituality

Mini Track Chair: Paulo Gonçalves Pinheiro and Raysa Geaquinto Rocha, Beira Interior University and NECE Research Unit in Business Sciences

The interest in Spirituality in Management is growing due to its influence on the organizational dynamics, such as, its capacity to increase employees satisfaction, commitment and well-being, and to create social good and economic value (Bierly, Kessler and Christensen, 2000; Nonaka and Takeuchi, 2011). Wisdom has been a topic of interest in several fields for centuries. In the last decades it has been investigated in Management, because to develop an Organizational Wisdom is necessary the efficient and efficacy utilization of knowledge in the organization. Organizational Wisdom as well organizational spirituality fosters innovation, creates social good, and economic value. Leaders have the critical role in the development of spirituality and wisdom inside the organizations.
